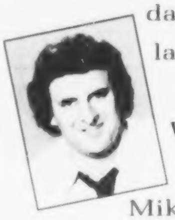
THE BIG PICTURE:

In the Chicago ADI, the Chicago Tribune delivers the largest daily circulation, the largest Sunday circulation, and the largest suburban circulation both daily and Sunday.



With editorial bureaus across the country and around the world, and the home to nationally–recognized columnists including Mike Royko and Bob Greene, the Chicago Tribune provides advertisers with an editorial environment unequalled in the Midwest.

With zoned advertising opportunities every day, in sections dealing with everything from business and news to food and fashion, the Chicago Tribune allows advertisers the opportunity to target their messages to just the areas and editorial which make good business sense, whether they're large retail chains or small specialty shops.

THE PICTURE OF SUCCESS:

The Chicago Tribune is the overwhelming choice of advertisers in the Chicago area: full–run, part–run, national, retail and classified. These advertisers know that success means making the right media choices, and in Chicago, that means the Chicago Tribune. It's the one vehicle they can't do without, and in many cases the only one they need.

Data from the 1990 U.S. Census

The 1992 edition of The Editor & Publisher Market Guide includes data from the recently released 1990 U.S. Census of population.

This year, the release of the 1990 Census data produced much controversy as the preliminary figures were challenged by state and city governments throughout the country. Local officials claimed that in some areas, especially in larger metropolitan areas, there was a drastic undercount of the population. The Census Bureau took remedial steps by resurveying certain areas and announcing the possibility of statistical adjustments.

However, Secretary of Commerce Robert A. Mosbacher announced on July 15, 1991 that, in order to preserve the 200-year-old tradition of how people are counted, the census figures would not be adjusted.

While keeping a tradition is important, there is no doubt that a drastic undercount of the population will have important consequences for political representation at every geographical level, and we believe that not accounting for all people who live in the United States could have an important impact on the marketing plane of every business in the United States.

For the last three years, the estimated figures presented by the 1989, '90 & '91 Market Guide have been very consistent with the adjusted figures suggested by the Census Bureau after the recounting than with the settled "official" data, and we are confident that our projection methods for population and households reflect accurately what is happening in the country. We project that by the end of 1992 there will be more than 257 million people living in the United States, and that California, the largest state in the Union, will account for more than 32 million of these people.

As has been customary since 1924, the core of the Editor & Publisher Market Guide is Section II, and the individual 14-point market surveys for every newspaper market in the United States and Canada.

Section IV of this book reports the official Population and Household figures for the 1980 and 1990 censuses. This allows for a direct comparison of market growth and for the overall trends that can be observed in various geographical areas. In addition, this section presents our current-year estimates for population, age, income, and retail sales categories.

We strongly believe that the 1992 edition of Editor & Publisher Market Guide will become an important tool for every marketing professional who will need accurate estimates for the U.S. and Canadian markets.

How to use the 1992 Editor & Publisher Market Guide

The data in this MARKET GUIDE is presented in four sections:

I — Market Ranking Tables

These tables show, ranked by size according to E&P estimates for 1992, the population, disposable income, income per household, total retail sales, lumber/hardware sales, general merchandise, food sales, automobile sales, gasoline sales, apparel sales, furniture sales, eat/drink sales and drug sales of all MSAs, PMSAs and the top 250 counties and cities of the U.S.

II — Individual Market Surveys—United States

Facts and figures about all United States daily newspaper markets, listed alphabetically by state and city in the U.S.A., followed by Puerto Rico. The sample survey below shows the information included, and how the data is generally shown. A state map introduces surveys for each state, showing MSAs, PMSAs, CMSAs, county boundaries, location of all daily newspaper cities, and county-seat cities without daily newspapers.

III — Individual Market Surveys—Canada

Facts and figures about all Canadian daily newspaper markets. The map for Canada shows national and provincial capitals, and location of all daily newspaper cities.

IV — Sales, Population and Income Tables

E&P 1992 retail sales estimates, total, and in nine categories, with number of stores in each, for all MSAs or PMSAs, U.S. counties and daily newspaper cities. Tables are arranged alphabetically by state (by province in Canada), followed by tables of estimated 1992 population, personal income — total, per capita and per household; also number of farms and value of crops and livestock. New this year are the E&P population estimates for five age groups.

DEFINITIONS AND NOTES

ABC—Adjacent to certain population figures and newspaper circulations in the surveys in this book are references to the Audit Bureau of Circulations. The ABC issues standardized statements of the circulation of publisher members, verifies the figures shown in these statements by auditor's examination and disseminates the circulation data to advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers.

Each publisher's statement and audit report issued to members covers the quantity, quality, distribution of circulation and circulation methods.

ADVERTISING & MERCHANDISING DATA—The daily newspaper is the prime source of information on local conditions in each of the newspaper market areas. The name, address and telephone number of people able to supply more information about these areas appear in paragraph 14 of each survey.

CIRCULATION FIGURES—The March 1991 figures appear in most of the surveys. Where March 1991 figures are not available, proper notation is made. Also indicated with the figure is whether the circulation is verified by ABC (Audit Bureau of Circulations), VAC (Verified Audit Circulation), CAC (Certified Audit of Circulations), or CPVS (Community Papers Verification Service) or comes from a sworn statement by the publisher of the newspaper.

CITY ZONE (CZ)—The corporate limits of the city in which the newspaper is published, plus in some cases, the contiguous areas built up adjacent to or surrounding the city of publication. This could also include more than one city, where the areas involved are contiguous areas.

CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (CMSA)—The larger geographical area of which Primary Metropolitan Statistical Areas are components. CMSA's are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas appears on the following pages.

CONSUMER SPENDABLE INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" below.

DISPOSABLE PERSONAL INCOME—Sometimes referred to as "Effective Buying Income" or "Consumer Spendable Income," is equal to current income received by individuals, unincorporated business and non-profit institutions, from all sources. It includes all that is received as wages, salaries and commissions, including pensions, trust and welfare funds, labor, farm, non-farm, professional, rental, dividends, personal interest and transfer payments after taxes.

The amounts usually deducted for income, property, and other taxes not deductible as business expenses, as well as other general government revenues, such as fines, penalties, and so on, have been subtracted.

EFFECTIVE BUYING INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

ESTIMATES—Figures on which estimates are based are always U.S. Government figures (U.S. Census) or in Canada, the latest available Census figures from Statistics Canada. Any other figures are either identified as to source or are considered "local estimates."

FARM DATA—County Data: The figures used in these tables for the counties are the latest released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The most recent agriculture census was made in 1987.

State Data: State totals of crops and livestock are released annually by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. State totals used in these tables are from the most recent USDA Statistical Bulletin. Footnotes at the bottom of each table show the year and source of data.

HOUSEHOLDS—Not to be confused with "families." The term "household" corresponds to "private dwelling unit" as defined in the Census Bureau's current operations, which would include all persons occupying a house or an apartment together.

INCOME PER HOUSEHOLD (DISPOSABLE INCOME)—The total average income earned or received by each household with direct or indirect taxes deducted.

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (MSA)—A large population nucleus with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration within that nucleus. Metropolitan Statistical Areas are designated and defined by the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce. A complete list of these areas, with explanation of the standards applied to their designation, appears in the following pages.

NEIGHBORHOOD SHOPPING AREA (OR DISTRICT)—Indicates specific street locations of active retail trade.

NEWSPAPER DESIGNATED MARKET (NDM)—The geographical area which a newspaper considers to be the market it serves. Publisher members have the option of reporting circulation according to just the new NDM or in combination with a City Zone and/or Retail Trading Zone figure.

PASSENGER AUTOS—These figures are obtained from the various state departments of motor vehicles, where available, and generally on a county basis. However, in some states, no county breakdown is available. Motor vehicle figures in Canada are obtained from the Transportation and Communications Division of Statistics Canada.

PERSONAL INCOME—See "Disposable Personal Income" above.

PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA (PMSA)—A Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) of more than 1 million population which meets additional social and economic requirements and, together with one or more other PMSAs, forms a Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Area (CMSA). For more information, see explanation on following pages.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATE TABLES—Based upon the lastest available (1987) U.S. Department of Commerce Census of Retail Sales, brought up-to-date, with considerations given to conditions and developments since the Census figures were collected.

Sales and "Kinds of Retail Stores" (as well as estimates) are reported as in the Bureau of Census reports, by type of store in which the sales are made (using the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions, all listed in this volume) rather than by the products sold. For example, many non food items are sold in food stores.

The sum of the nine types of stores will not add up to the total of retail sales estimates for each area since there is also a miscellaneous classification of stores not included in these tables.

In some areas (cities or counties), retail sales per household exceed the figures shown for total income per household. This is because of the influence or attraction an area may have on the shopping patterns or habits of those who live adjacent to or outside it.

RETAIL TRADING ZONE (RTZ)—The area beyond the City Zone whose residents regularly trade to an important degree with the retail merchants in the City Zone. In establishing the boundaries of the RTZ, consideration is given to the transportation facilities, traffic flow, traveling time and schedules by both public facilites, private cars and common carriers; as well as charge accounts, phone orders and regular delivery service from the central or City Zone to the outlying areas.

SHOPPING CENTER—The term is intended to apply to developments with a number and a variety of stores, including chains, supermarkets or banks, with extensive parking facilities, and located on or near a main highway.

STATISTICS CANADA—Canadian Government agency in Ottawa reponsible for all official statistics covering population, retail sales, etc.

STORES—Stores are typed according to the definition of the 1987 U.S. Census of Business (Retail Trade) which use the Standard Industrial Classification Manual codes and descriptions.

SUPERMARKET—This term involves these three conditions: annual sales volume of at least $1 million; four departments — dairy, meat, produce and groceries; and a grocery department that is entirely self-service.

RETAIL SALES ESTIMATES

The basis for kind-of-business classifications used in the Editor & Publisher Market Guide is the same as that used by the U.S. Department of Commerce in the Census of Retail Trade. This follows the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual (Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget, Standard Industrial Classification Manual, 1972.)

The 1987 Census of Retail Sales conducted by the U.S. Department of Commerce was a gigantic task and required considerable time for evaluation and tabulation. The 1987 Census is the basis for the Retail Sales Estimates included in the 1992 edition. However, strict comparison of the data for both the 1982 and 1987 census is limited by the following factors:

Geographic boundaries of a number of areas for which data are shown in the 1987 census are not the same as in the 1982 census because of annexations, other boundary changes, redefinitions of SMSA's, and changes in qualifying criteria since 1982. For 1987, data for census-defined, unincorporated places are no longer shown separately but are included as part of the "remainder of county" statistics.

In the 1977 census, and prior to that, the combined data for all establishments were presented for selected kind-of-business classifications, including all 2-digit major industry groups. For these, data for nonemployer firms were obtained from administrative records of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) based on business tax returns. For 1987, data for nonemployers and combined data for all establishments are presented only at the retail trade total level for all geographic areas.

For your quick reference, we provide a complete list of the major group classifications of stores included in the Tables of Estimated Retail Sales in Section IV; the Miscellaneous Retail Stores category in this list is not included in the Tables. Numbers following names are SIC codes; PT following the SIC codes refers to "part"; n.e.c. refers to "not elsewhere classified."

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS
(MSAs, PMSAs and CMSAs)

METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS are defined according to a set of detailed standards prepared by the Federal Committee on MSAs which advises the Office of Management and Budget. These standards are periodically reviewed ~~in connection~~ with each Decennial Census of Population.

The general concept underlying the MSA is that of a geographic area consisting of a large population nucleus together with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus.

An MSA includes one city of at least 50,000 or more inhabitants or an urbanized area of at least 50,000 with total metropolitan population of at least 100,000. MSAs are defined in terms of entire counties; each MSA has one or more central counties, containing the area's main population concentration. In addition to the county (or counties) containing the main city (or cities), an MSA may also include outlying counties which have close economic and social relationships with the central counties. Such counties must meet certain standards regarding "metropolitan character," such as population density, and must have a specified level of commuting to the central county(ies). For example, counties with a commuting rate of 50 percent or more must have a population density of at least 25 persons per square mile. When the commuting rate is lower than this, the density requirement proportionately increases.

In the six New England states, however, MSAs are defined in terms of cities and towns rather than entire counties. Because smaller areas are used, the total MSA population requirement is reduced from 100,000 to 75,000.

The official title of an MSA always includes the state or states into which it extends and the name of the largest city in that MSA. It might include several cities — as many as three — all dependent upon relative and minimum populations of the central city and other cities in the MSA. When more than one city appears in the MSA title, they are usually ordered by their relative population.

In total, there are 265 recognized MSAs and 21 CMSAs, consisting of 73 PMSAs. Most MSA definitions are not subject to change until after the next national census. However, a few new MSAs may be added each year, usually because additional cities have reached the 50,000 population level according to official population estimates.

An area with more than 1 million population may be defined as a PRIMARY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA. A PMSA is a large urbanized county or a cluster of counties that exhibit very strong social and economic links. Local opinion, obtained through Congressional delegation, is also a very strong factor in determining if an area will be designated a PMSA. The specific standards for defining PMSAs are as follows:

1. The area must include at least one county that has a population of more than 100,000;
2. At least 60 percent of this county's population must be classified as urban;
3. Less than 50 percent of its workers commute to jobs outside of the county.

The larger area of which all PMSAs are component parts is defined as a CONSOLIDATED METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA.

MSAs in New England have been combined to form NEW ENGLAND COUNTY METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREAS (NECMSA).

The complete criteria used in defining metropolitan statistical areas can be obtained directly from the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230.

EDITOR & PUBLISHER'S MARKET RANKINGS

Leading U.S. cities, counties and metropolitan statistical areas ranked according to EDITOR & PUBLISHER estimates for 1992

This year Editor & Publisher has once again compiled market-ranking tables to help advertising and marketing executives plan programs for the coming year. These tables have been a feature of the E&P Market Guide since they first appeared in the 1964 edition.

The rankings, based on E&P estimates for 1992, are shown for: population, disposable personal income, income per household and total retail sales, as they have been since 1964.

This year, we have also added new ranking tables — at the MSA and county level — for the nine categories that make up total retail sales, and they are as follows: lumber/hardware, general merchandise, food, auto, gasoline, apparel, furniture, eat/drink and drugs.

Rankings are provided for all cities or communities in the United States in which newspapers are published on a daily basis, for all counties whether daily newspapers are published in them or not, and for all metropolitan statistical areas in the United States, as defined by the Office of Management and Budget.

The tables are tabulated by computer and are based on the 1990 U.S. Census and the 1987 Census of Business, and 1992 research estimates by E&P Research, Inc.

It took a lot of digging to get this dump cleaned up

But Richmond Times-Dispatch reporter William Ruberry stayed with the job. It started when he interviewed a former Virginia Department of Waste Management employee who was fired after complaining about the department's handling of waste sites.

Ruberry's research led him to a state-owned fuel farm near Yorktown. For months he reviewed files, obtained records, and read depositions. He conducted nearly 100 interviews...with the governor, members of Congress, state legislators, and many other individuals and state agency representatives.

The facts showed that Virginia was in open violation of environmental laws. For two months following the first story, the administration of Gov. L. Douglas Wilder tried to defuse the issue, hoping it would go away. Other Virginia media downplayed the story. But the Times-Dispatch kept digging, publishing 50 articles on the subject.

Those stories led to investigations by the General Assembly, Congress and the EPA. A $16 million cleanup ensued. The director of the Department of Waste Management resigned. Fines and penalties from the EPA are likely.

All because one reporter pursued the truth. That's a commitment we're proud of at the Richmond Times-Dispatch and at all of our Media General newspapers. Our reporters dig for the facts and report them, no matter what they uncover.

We Provide Greater Metro Area Coverage Than Any Major Newspaper In The Entire Western World.

West Of The Mississippi, That Is.

In fact, even if you include the Eastern states, only two major newspapers have greater market coverage than The Arizona Republic and The Phoenix Gazette.

Just five issues of our daily newspapers reach more than 1.2 million potential customers, more than all other metro Phoenix newspapers combined.

Phoenix is young, affluent and growing faster than almost every major market in the country. And to reach its consumers, there's simply no better way than to put your ads in The Republic and Gazette.

It's a sure way for your product or service to conquer the Western World.

11 - TAP WATER: Water hardness ranges from 4.2-15.1 grains per gallon. The alkalinity also varies, ranging from 5.4-8.6 grains per gallon. The Owens River Aqueduct accounts for approximately 70% of the water supply and is moderately soft with 4.2 grains per gallon total hardness and slightly alkaline with 5.4 grains per gallon. Other water supplies include the Los Angeles Aqueduct, River Supply Conduit and various reservoirs.

12 - RETAILING: Principal Shopping Centers-Los Angeles is unique in that shopping centers are spread throughout the market and each represents a major shopping center for that area. Downtown Los Angeles thus represents one of many. It extends 8 blocks N & S from 1st St. to 9th St. & 7 blocks E & W from Spring St. to Figueroa. In discussing the retailing structure of Los Angeles, Orange County, which is part of the marketing area and part of the primary market or city and retail trading zone of Los Angeles metropolitan newspapers, becomes an integral part. All following figures are, therefore, for Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

Neighborhood Shopping Centers-In the Los Angeles Marketing Area there are 110 incorporated cities with their central shopping districts and community shopping centers. In addition there are 62 spacious regional centers, which include department stores, supermarkets, shops, restaurants and parking areas.

FOR 65 YEARS...
A LOS ANGELES TRADITION

The Los Angeles market is growing at a rate well above that of the U.S. population as a whole. That growth comes primarily from the Hispanic population, which experienced a growth rate twelve times that of non Hispanic whites during the 1980's. Sheer numbers make this community a sound investment for targeted advertising. Los Angeles is number one in effective buying income, totalling over $63 billion in retail sales... and Los Angeles is one third Hispanic.

Hispanic culture is at roots of today's Southern California, and the Hispanic community is a vital part of a thriving Los Angeles. For sixty-five years, La Opinion has been the voice of that community. Hispanic marketing isn't new to us—it's our heritage.

For more information contact the Marketing Department today.

THE ORANGE COUNTY Register

WHY?

In a word — affluence. Orange County is the richest part of the Los Angeles ADI. Its residents have a 14% higher average household income than L.A. And with 2.4 million residents, this is a market larger and more important than San Francisco . . . with more effective buying power than Dallas.

Exclusive Readership

Every day, 687,700 readers (702,700 on Sunday) of The Orange County Register never read the other paper. They read the Register exclusively. No wonder the Register attracts so much advertising. A huge upscale audience combined with exclusive readership.

Join the national advertisers who have discovered the Register is the most effective print buy in the L.A. ADI.

Orange County people do not read L.A. papers. Orange County people work in Orange County, play in Orange County, shop in Orange County, and for the most part, never pick up an L.A. paper. It's why The Orange County Register enjoys 87% more daily circulation in Orange County than the Los Angeles paper.
